A ROUND OF TALK.

At Nightfall.

Now let the thoughts of time go by—
Needs of the body and the mind.
The busy sun is lost behind
The hills and all the meadows lie
Under the eternal sky.

Now banish fancy, thought and care:
Into their woods did them begone:
Their busy day is out and done:
For silence now must thou prepare
Breathing the immortal air.

Thy cares go, giving thee release,
Into the silence of the night,
While star and star across the height.

Measures the spaces of thy peace.
When the cares go by end cease.
But when the heart is free from stain
Washed as in waters infinite.

From every care that clouded it,
With the morning thou wilt find
Takes the thoughts of time again.
—Henry Bryan Blinn in The Academy

NEW LAW.

The new set of city ordinances recently passed by the board of Council contains some very radical measures and some that will make quite a difference in the government of the town. The ordinances have been passed and are being prepared for publication after which they will become laws. Among the important measures is the fixing of the license for saloons. There was some talk of increasing this tax from $250 per year to $500 or at least to a greater figure than first named. When the matter came to a vote however, it was ascertained that a majority of the Board were of the opinion that the saloon men were taxed enough and the license remains at the old figure. The Council has taken a whack at the dog owners and the municipal governors of such affairs the dogs bid fair to be taxed out of existence. No sooner than does the State law fixed a tax of a dollar a year on all dogs become effective that along comes the Council of the city of Springfield and puts an additional tax on all male dogs within the city limits of one dollar per head or two dollars for females. Thus every owner of a dog in Springfield must pay from two to three dollars per year for his property.

Generous.

Generous—That the people of Springfield are a people of the most generous impulses has been amply illustrated on more than one occasion lately. There is never a call from the needy or from those in distress that goes long unanswered. A case in point is that of the actors, Mr. and Mrs. Barrett, who were unfortunately enough to be overtaken by sickness and left stranded here without resources. The good people of the town however, responded nobly to the "distress signal" and two deserving people were relieved from an embarrassing situation and a charitable deed was done. The benefit performance at the Opera House on last Friday night was the outcome of the movement and the effort was a complete success. The gross receipts were $112 and the net receipts were $112 and the net receipts were the same. This tells the story of the generosity of the people. Everybody contributed to the cause and all were made happy thereby.

Acquitted.

The jury returned a verdict of acquittal Friday morning in case of Charles Mack Greenwell, who was tried on the charge of killing Martin Roberts. The trial commenced about ten days and was vigorously and ably prosecuted by County Attorney Nat W. Halstead, while the defendant was ably represented by Attorneys John S. Kelley and E. E. McKay. The empanelling of the jury required nearly four days. The hearing of the evidence was begun last Friday a week and continued until the following Thursday. The arguments of the case were begun last Thursday morning when E. E. McKay of counsel for the defense made a strong appeal on behalf of the defendant.

He was followed by Judge John S. Kelley in a more lengthy argument, covering the evidence in the case in an able manner. County Attorney, Nat W. Halstead, who prosecuted the case without assistance, closed the argument with an eloquent speech lasting about three hours. This is one of the most noted and hard fought cases in the history of the county. The trial jury was composed of representative citizens. The evidence in the case was voluminous, the principal lines of which have been given in previous issues.

Doctors are Puzzled

The remarkable recovery of Kenneth Melver, of Vanceboro, Me., is the subject of much interest to the medical fraternity and a wide circle of friends. He says of his case: "Owing to severe inflammation of the throat and congestion of the lungs, three doctors gave me up to die when as a last resort I was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery and I am happy to say, it saved my life." Cures the worst coughs and colds, bronchitis, tonsillitis, weak lungs, hoarseness and a gripper. Guaranteed at C. J. Haynons drug store, 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

Barn Destroyed by Fire.

A large barn on the farm of Mr. Ben Irvine, in the Buffalo neighborhood, several miles west of town was completely destroyed by fire, last Friday afternoon. The barn contained about 1,000 bushels of corn a quantity of hay and oats, silo machinery and other farming implements. Three cows that were in the building were also burned to death. Mr. Irvine estimates his loss at about $1,200, with $1,300, insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown. —Ky. Standard.

Married.

The trials and tribulation of Mr. Sandy Mahoney and Miss Nivian Boone, a pair of young lovers of Nelson county, ended happily Monday evening when Rev. Wm. Buckman pronounced them husband and wife at the Catholic church in New Haven. The bride in company with two of her lady friends, Misses Flora Mahoney and May Boone, went to Louisville several days before and the groom met them there on Sunday, when all arrangements had been completed for the marriage to be solemnized the next day. When the appointed hour arrived they went to the Cathedral, but instead of saying the marriage rite the priest said that an order had been issued by the Bishop making it necessary for couples to be married by their pastor. However, they sought other priests, but each time were met by the same obstacle, when finally they called Father Buckman to the telephone and made arrangements with him to perform the ceremony after the arrival of the Greensburg train that evening. The news had leaked out and notwithstanding the heavy rain, a large crowd of friends gathered at the church to witness the marriage and congratulate the happy young couple. —Lebanon Falcon.

LOOKS BETTER

For Building New Road Than Ever Before.

The Cumberland & Northern Railway has not been making much noise of late, but President Azbill has been doing some very effective work, nevertheless less.

Mr. Azbill writes that all the profiles, maps and charts have been perfected and delivered to him. To give an idea what this accomplishment means it may be stated that these preliminary and absolute necessary papers cost Mr. Azbill $7,800, which handsome sum has been paid. Of this the maps, profiles and charts of the original road, between Lebanon and Columbia, cost $2,800, and those of the extended line from Columbia to the Cumberland river on the other end, and from Lebanon to Bargain on this end, cost $4,000. With these in hand the promoters are ready to get down to business.

Mr. Azbill writes that he has been in Louisville for a few days in conference with the Commercial Club, and that he has interested local and eastern capitalists in the road. The attorney for the moneyed men will come in a few days to go over the line with President Azbill, which is the last step before putting up their necessary capital. They would not go to the trouble and expense of sending this attorney if they were not favorably impressed with their scheme.

All the right-of-ways between Columbia and Lebanon have been secured excepting two. All between Lebanon and Perryville have been secured excepting three. Nothing has been done along this line between Perryville and Danville, or between Perryville and Harrodsburg. It is up to us.

The old saying "March comes in like a lion and goes out like a lamb," will certainly come true this time.

Our place has become so noted for its quantities that none of our people have had any business in the Circuit Court this time nor any of us have even been called before the grand jury. Peace and harmony are ours for the present and we trust will long continue.

Quite a large crowd from here attended the sale of Esq. Prather, deceased, at Pulliam Saturday.

A prominent fruit grower informs us that he had made a careful examination of peach buds and finds them killed. Apples and other fruit are damaged and will be only a small crop. If he is correct this news will be received by many with regret for there is nothing such better than a good fruit crop.

Rev. A. B. McDonald, an evangelist of the Christian church, of Okeemulgee, I. T., was in our midst repeat with the views of holding a series of meetings, but our people decided that they did not need spiritual food at the present and as Penwick was wanting preaching we were glad to furnish them Bro. McDonald.

While it is more likely than ever that the new road can secure the Southern Railway between Harrodsburg and Bargain, nevertheless Mr. Azbill and his bustling representatives at Bargain are securing rights of way and terminal facilities at that place. Squire John Bargain has given the right across his place, about three fourths of a mile, with characteristic liberality. Messrs. W. J. Pappa, J. T. Voris, B. Frank Moore and Bland & Stratton have also demonstrated their liberality by granting the right of way across their places. This leaves only the places of Messrs. Brown, Treadwell, Vaner Divine and West Cardwell to cross, and it is thought that they will all give the privileges to encourage the building of the road.

Recovered Damages.
A sheep killing dog case which attracted a good deal of attention was tried in the circuit this week and resulted in a verdict for damages against the owner of the dogs. Several weeks ago Mr. Eliza Farris, who lives in the Mooreville neighborhood lost several sheep by having them attacked by dogs. Dogs belonging to Mr. William Goode were suspected of doing the damage and Mr. Farris filed suit against Mr. Goode to recover the value of the sheep. There was some conflicting testimony as to the guilt of the dogs, but the jury evidently was satisfied that the damage had been done and awarded a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $75.

SCORED A HIT
Did the Benefit Performance at the Opera House Last Week.

The largest audience ever assembled in the Opera House greeted the cast of "The Church Across the Way" last Friday evening and the few seats that were not occupied had been sold and only the inclement weather prevented what would otherwise have been a packed house. The unanimous verdict is that it was the best performance ever provided by any company before a Springfield audience. This is a high encomium on local talent as good foreign talent has appeared here, and taking into consideration that none of the young people had had any special histrionic training to fit them for the finished manner in which they acquitted themselves in their respective parts. The leading part was taken by Miss Lydia McElroy, who as the persecuted one, had the sympathy of the audience with her in her rendition of that character. Miss Katherine Russell was the widow who was interested in the affairs of the village at large and every resident therein in particular, and so well did she perform her part that it was evident her powers of impersonation are especially good.

Miss Sue Ray as the minister's sister, wooed by Richard Heritage, who was Will Waters, was especially pleasing in that role. Frank Noe, as Biny, an old negro mammy, brought down the house with his truly comic delineation of the negro character. Lynn Bush and John Roberts, the youngest members of the cast received much applause from the audience for the exceptionally creditable manner in which they performed their parts. Both young men surprised and pleased the audience by their unusually good acting. J. Charles Greene as a detective, added laurels to a well established reputation for doing well and gracefully anything he undertakes.

Will Waters and Frank Noe brought down the house by their duet singing of coon songs. Miss Mary Haydon delighted the audience by her singing. Miss Haydon is richly endowed with a voice of rare quality, and her singing was a delightful feature of the entertainment.

Miss Carrie Johnson, one of Lebanon's most attractive young ladies, by her singing lent much to the pleasure of the evening's performance. Her voice is of an unusual sweetness of tone and her singing was well received by the audience.

Miss Katie Cain, as pianist, performed her part in a most acceptable manner and delighted all lovers of music with her skill.

ful rendition of her selections and accompaniments.
With much feeling and in a few well chosen words, Mr. Barrett spoke of the kindness of the people to him in the misfortune of his wife's illness and thanked the public and those whose assistance made it possible to give the entertainment. Each individual composing the audience felt that he or she had contributed to a good cause and had received more than the value of the admission fee in pleasure.

Held Up And Robbed.

Oakland California papers receive here, recently give a sensational account of a daring hold up and robbery in which a former Springfield young man figured as the victim. Mr. J. mes H. Edelen who has been living at Oakland for several years was attacked by footpads one night last week and relieved of $307.50 in money and a $90 gold watch. Mr. Edelen says that he was knocked down and an attempt was made to administer chloroform to render him unconscious. The robbers got away with their booty and left Mr. Edelen badly used up from their rough treatment. Mr. Edelen had been in money lending business at Oakland and on the evening of the hold-up had received a sum of money from some customers and had it on his person. Mr. Edelen has many friends in Springfield who will regret to hear of his mishap. He is a son of Mr. George Edelen of the county and before going to California was clerk in the Peoples Deposit Bank of this place.

Marriage in Korea.
There is not much difficulty in marrying of a daughter in Korea. Where there are defects, such as feeble health, paralysis, deformities, etc., an expert intermediary who knows how to conceal them is employed. It is her business to make the girl presentable to the groom. As the bridegroom does not see the bride until the day of marriage, when it is too late to recall, he is obliged to make the best of the situation. In marrying Korean girls are not exempt from contributing to the support of the family. This applies to the grandest as well as the humblest peasant. Ladies of rank who have become impoverished and are obliged to support themselves may earn a livelihood by knitting or rearing silkworms.

A Mother's Command.
William Brookfield, the English diplomat, used to tell this story: "The new bride of New Zealand is a farewell and pathetic interview with her mother after her appointment was thus addressed by her in such sequence of words and tears would permit: 'I suppose they will eat you, my dear. I try to think otherwise, but I suppose they will. Well, we will leave it in the hands of Providence. But, if they do, mind, my dear, and disagree with them!'

Property and Clothes.
The ladies of Lamm surmise those of all other nations in retiring modesty, for they not only hide their faces, but walk about under a small tent which requires the assistance of a servant to carry it. It is not surprising to hear that they have a very bad reputation for property, for in Africa female respectability is in inverse ratio to the quality of clothes worn—Ellis's "East Africa."
